VISION

To promote, instill and sustain a desire for inquiry, innovation and research among all learners towards an organic growth as a global citizen.

MISSION

To serve as a model, where teaching and learning is innovative and to excel beyond the classroom.

At IPHS, our commitment is to offer an exceptional experience that caters to students of all abilities. We plan our Teaching and learning strategies to enable each student to aspire to the highest levels of personal achievement. In line with the ethos of IPHS, we ensure that all students have complete access to every facet of learning. Our teachers strive to guide every student toward reaching their full potential, irrespective of factors such as race, age or ability. This commitment is driven by our belief in nurturing self-fulfilment in students and preparing them for their eventual journey into active and responsible citizen.

At the core of IPHSs philosophy is a deep appreciation for the individuality, gifts and talents of each student. We celebrate and value the diverse strengths within our student body, fostering an inclusive environment that recognizes

"The definitions of gifted and talented students take account of the 'Differentiation Model of Giftedness and Talent'* and align with international best practice.

• The term giftedness refers to 'a student who is in possession of untrained and spontaneously-expressed exceptional natural ability in one or more domain of human ability.'

These domains will include intellectual, creative, social, physical abilities. In the case of a gifted student, whilst exceptional potential will be present, they may actually under achieve.

• The term talented refers to 'a student who has been able to transform their 'giftedness' into exceptional performance'. Talented students will always demonstrate exceptional levels of competence in the specific domains of human ability. All gifted students have the potential to be highly able but not all highly-able students are truly gifted.

Common distinctions between the able and gifted child include:

- An able student knows the answer; the gifted learner asks the questions.
- Students are meta-cognitive and self-regulating.
- Gifted and talented students are enthusiastic, innovative, independent, enterprising, effective students, well focused, analytical, reflective, collaborative and are very clear communicators who are effective.
- Students apply acquired skills, knowledge and understanding confidently and accurately to new learning contexts, both real and abstract.
- Students make meaningful connections between areas of learning and a variety of sources to deepen their understanding of the world
- An able student works hard to achieve; the gifted learner knows without working hard.
- An able student enjoys school; the gifted learner enjoys self-directed learning.
- An able student has a fine imagination; the gifted learner uses that imagination to experiment with ideas.

Identification of students Gifted and talented students at IPHS are considered to be students of high ability who are judged as showing outstanding skill in one or more of the following:

Provision for Gifted students

Where activities are school based, measurement of impact will be done on site.

Through school provision Provide opportunities for problem-solving, hypothesising and developing thinking skills

Use a range of teaching and learning strategies and effectively differentiate class and homework tasks.

Give students the chance to work with other Gifted students in a small group situation

Identify Gifted student's extension/challenging work in schemes of work and lesson plans

Generate strategies for class discussions to ensure that gifted students can contribute without dominating.

Use appropriate resources to stretch and challenge gifted learners

Encourage pupils to take risks, to play with ideas and to regard all answers, whether right or wrong, as productive opportunities for learning.

Offer Enrichment opportunities which allow Gifted students to excel, and which encourage and maintain enthusiasm for the subject

Where teachers have identified students who are gifted in these areas, they should alert parents to the existence of extra-curricular activities that may be of interest to their child
